

Celebrate Life unveils “new and improved” Teach One to Lead One® Program

Technology and youth development come together to reach at-risk kids

Atlanta, GA, August 31, 2010 -- Celebrate Life International, the creators of highly effective youth development programs, today introduced the new and improved Teach One to Lead One® program, a comprehensive and transformational approach to successfully reach the at-risk youth of today.

The new Teach One to Lead One® program creatively combines youth work with technology and makes it possible for experienced as well as inexperienced adult mentors to succeed in reaching troubled youth in their communities. This new program will be of tremendous value to those adults who are called to work with at-risk kids and who want to give of themselves to this next generation.

“This is a one-of-a-kind program that is a perfect fit for a community-minded church,” said Dr. Lori Salierno, Founder and CEO of Celebrate Life International (CLI). “We are ready to partner with those organizations that are ‘walking their talk’ when it comes to saving the youth of today who are in trouble.”

Adult mentors will find this new program very easy to implement. They will be assigned to CLI Account Relationship Managers who will act as coaches through the training phase and program implementation. The mentors will also be given access to a password-protected area of CLI’s website that offers one centralized stop on the Internet containing a powerful collection of carefully-edited materials, curriculum, videos and many other resources.

Individuals concerned about drugs in their neighborhood schools, gang-related violence, increasing drop-out rates, teenage pregnancies, and other negative influences now have a tool to make a positive difference. As featured in the National Education Report and proven effective for over 11 years, the Teach One to Lead One® philosophy is a unique answer to these challenges. Small, medium or large churches interested in obtaining a Teach One to Lead One® license and receiving training to work with at-risk kids can contact the CLI Office and get ready to begin making a difference today.

For further information, contact a CLI Program Consultant at www.CelebrateLife.org or call CLI’s main office at 770-529-7700 ext 50.

About Celebrate Life International

Celebrate Life International, Inc., is a 501(c)(3), nonprofit service organization dedicated to transforming at-risk kids into responsible citizens. Founded by Dr. Lori Salierno in 1996, the organization has reached tens of thousands of at-risk kids through short and long term programs throughout the years. The organization is headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia with program sites in public schools, juvenile courts and community centers across the United States, Australia, El Salvador, Russia, and South Africa.

###